The Grand Prix series is almost in the home stretch, with three main events left for players to rack up points in their pursuit of the various titles.

The next two events are now accepting entries as the circuit stops in Nottingham on May 5 and 6 and in Blackpool two weeks later on May 19 and 20.

The standings have now been updated to include the points won in Jersey over Easter, and serial winners Karina Le Fevre and Chris Doran lead the way in the women's and men's singles.

But there is plenty still to play for in those and all the other categories in Nottingham, Blackpool, and at the satellite event in Burgess Hill, before the series finale in London in June.
