TT Kidz was beamed into living rooms across the land as the TT Kidz Awards programme went live during lockdown.

A total of eight sessions led participants through the first two stages of the TT Kidz Awards, which focus on the basic key skills all players need to develop.

Free TT Kidz Awards packs were given away to the first 50 families to register for the live online sessions.

Table Tennis England Youth Participation Officer Lauren Evans said: "The TT Kidz awards live sessions were a big success. The children really enjoyed the sessions and it seemed to be a nice break from their normal routines in lockdown.

"It was great to see them master new skills each week, I feel that they will all be a lot more confident returning to their clubs."
