Top seed Liam Pitchford was knocked out of the WTT Contender Budapest tournament in the quarter-finals by German opponent Kilian Ort.

The tie hinged on a protracted second game in which Pitchford, who lost the first game 11-8, held five game points including three at 10-7, but was unable to convert any of them. He took his timeout at 10-9, but that did not help either and he ultimately ended up losing the game 16-14.

His opponent, world ranked 198 but by now exuding confidence, pulled away to take the third game and seal a place in the semi-finals.

Pitchford said: "It wasn't great today, but I came here to get some matches and I wasn't expecting a lot of myself as I've been low on confidence recently. It played a couple of okay matches and at least it's matches under my belt."
