According to the latest Sport England Active People Survey, just under 10 million people in England gave up their time to support sport and physical activity at some point across the 12-month period.

In 2021, Sport England and partners came together to look at just these questions. Their ambition was to create both “a long-term vision and shorter-term objectives, to change our communities for good.” This ambition became the Vision for Volunteering. With 10m volunteers active in sport and physical activity alone, Counsel need to make sure the Vision really meets volunteers needs.

Their short survey asks about:

- Your relationship to volunteering – what you do and what it means to you
- The challenges you experience in volunteering – what gets in the way
- The opportunities you see for change – making it more effective and enjoyable
