The schedules and ticket prices have been released for the table tennis event at the London Paralympic Games next summer.

The table tennis competition, which runs from the 30th August to the 8th September, will be held in the same ExCeL conference centre as the Olympic Games event.

Britain's top para players like; Will Bayley, Sue Gilroy and Kim Daybell will be able to compete in both the singles and team competitions, and with hopes and expectations high for the home team, the British athletes are hopeful of bringing home some medals.

Prices for tickets for all sessions at the event will be set at £15 with special discount prices at just £5.

Tickets don't go on sale until 9th September 2011 but information on the ticket options available, including discount offers can be found by going to: <http://www.tickets.london2012.com/>
