

Womens British League Website Unveiled

Author: Paul Stimpson

Posted On: September 23, 2011

After the great success surrounding the launch of the Senior British League site and Junior British League site in 2010, this new and dynamic website is dedicated entirely to all the ladies who are the Womens British League. You will find it packed with all sorts of information and statistics about your league, your team and your performance.

We have worked closely with our commercial partner Table Tennis 365 to develop their league manager package to suit the specific requirements of the Womens British League.

Increasing the numbers of women playing Table Tennis is one of the prime goals of several ETTA projects such as

- Seminars and forums on Women in Table tennis
- Pilots for
  - Women in the workplace
  - Target girls at schools and clubs
  - Female specific coaching and volunteering

These projects and the great work being done in the Womens British League are crucial to the long term future of our sport.

So go ahead and save this site to your favourites now, as it will become the primary online source of information for everything related to your Womens British League.

Also, during the course of this season another event specific site like this one will be launched for Veterans British League as well, so keep an eye on the main ETTA website for news of these launches as well.

I would like to wish all clubs and players the best of luck for the remainder of the season and my thanks as always must go to all the volunteers, plus all the members of the British League committee who all do a fantastic job.

To view all the happenings this weekend and in future weekends just visit www.tabletennis365.com/wbl

ALEX MURDOCH
ETTA CHAIRMAN

Downloaded From:

<https://newsarchive.tabletennisengland.co.uk/news/archived/wbl-site-unveiled/>