

Sibley to get 'home comforts'

Author: Paul Stimpson

Posted On: January 06, 2012

Kelly Sibley in Team GB kit which she hopes to don this summer

It's not something you hear about every potential Olympic athlete, but Kelly Sibley is getting a boost from her home town Leamington Spa, who are staging a special tournament for the English number two's benefit.

The event will take place on Saturday 10th March 2012 in Leamington with a full day's play expected from 9:15am to the final match, which is an exhibition between Sibley and England Women's team Head Coach, Alan Cooke.

All the entry fees and proceeds from the day will go to support "Kelly's Olympic Dream".

For the full story and the entry form for the tournament (be quick – there's only 112 places available) click here to read the ITTF article.

Downloaded From:

<https://newsarchive.tabletennisengland.co.uk/news/archived/sibley-to-get-home-comforts/>