

British League Premier Division play-off preview

Author: Russell Moore

Posted On: May 14, 2012

Mike Marsden hoping to help Ormesby to promotion

Can Ormesby win the 2012 play-offs on home soil?

Few people will need reminding that next weekend (Saturday and Sunday 19/20 May 2012) is a huge weekend for English Sport . Chelsea will try to become the first London Club to win the Champions League whilst West Ham and Blackpool will both be trying to return to the English Premier Division after a year's absence via the play-off final at Wembley.

The Senior British Table Tennis League are also staging their Premier Division play-offs and six sides – Halton I, Derwent I, BATTI I, York Gardens I, Ormesby I and Kingfisher I will go head to head at Ormesby Table Tennis Club, Cargo Fleet Lane, Middlesbrough, TS3 8PB to try and claim the top two places and automatic qualification into next year's Senior British League Premier Division.

Action starts at 11.30 hours on the Saturday and at 10.00 hours on the Sunday.

Read the full preview on table tennis 365

Downloaded From:

<https://newsarchive.tabletennisengland.co.uk/news/archived/british-league-premier-division-play-off-preview/>