Entry is now open for the Tees Sport Doncaster Grand Prix, which signifies the half-way stage in the 2012/13 season.

Just a week after the Tees Sport Cardiff Satellite Grand Prix takes place on 26th/27th January (entries still open), the Tees Sport Doncaster Grand Prix will be in full swing at the Doncaster Dome on the 2nd and 3rd of February.

After his win at the Bribar Bristol Grand Prix last month, Gavin Rumgay became the fourth different winner (and fourth different nationality) this season to claim the Men's Singles crown. He could prove the man to beat after reaching the final in Doncaster last year as well, only to be beaten by Chris Doran.

The Women's Singles is also up for grabs with 2011 Champion Yuko Tsuji's absence allowing Karina Le Fevre to take the lead in the current standings.

As usual all the banded events, under-21s, veterans and doubles events will take place over the first weekend of February, but the only way to be part of it is to get your entry form in as soon as possible!
