

West of Scotland GP draw

Author: Paul Stimpson

Posted On: January 21, 2014

It's a Scottish stranglehold at the Tees Sport West of Scotland Grand Prix with a record number of entrants north of the border ready to take on 2014's first Grand Prix challenge this weekend (January 25-26th).

Over 100 entrants are ready to battle it out in the Scotstoun Sports Centre – the official venue for the 2014 Glasgow Commonwealth Games, and unsurprisingly the draw is packed full of our Scottish neighbours!

Former Overall Grand Prix Champion Gavin Rungay leads the Men's Singles seedings as part of the strong Scottish contingent that makes up 63% of the entry to the Tees Sport West of Scotland GP. The Women's Singles has a decidedly 'Commonwealth Games feel' about the seedings with Hannah Hicks, Karina Le Fevre, Chloe Thomas, Gillian Edwards, Ashley Givan and Nicole Hall all battling it out for places at next year's showpiece for their respective countries.

If you want to keep up with the latest action from Scotstoun this weekend you can follow our updates on the twitter @ETTATableTennis or use the hashtag #WOSGP all while enjoying your home comforts with a scotch egg, scotch broth, bottle of scotch and for the brave, a scotch bonnet.

Click here for the full Tees Sport West of Scotland Grand Prix draw

Written by Russell Moore (January 21, 2014)

Downloaded From:

<https://newsarchive.tabletennisengland.co.uk/news/featured-news/west-of-scotland-gp-draw/>