

Get involved with National Table Tennis Day

Author: Paul Stimpson

Posted On: June 09, 2014

Could you host a spectacular event like Pongathon?

This year Table Tennis England is welcoming you to get involved with National Table Tennis Day on 17th July 2014.

Table Tennis England, in partnership with Sing London and the Ping! project are launching National Table Tennis Day this summer, with a series of spectacular events across England to mark the celebration of table tennis.

We're planning to bring together fans, players and those people who haven't yet experienced the privileges of our sport to take part in a day of wild, weird and wonderful table tennis fun.

Challenge yourself by 'cooking' up a storm!

There are many ways to get involved, either by hosting events of your invention at your local club, school, park or other interesting location or by taking part in one of the events taking place nationwide.

You could host a fancy dress club night, a bring your pals to Table Tennis Day, a teachers versus pupils challenge, whatever you would like to do to have fun, get people playing and to make this a really special day!

The possibilities are endless...

Make sure you get your creative thinking caps on and start planning something spectacular for the most important date in the calendar. Soon, we'll be providing more information on how to register your event for National Table Tennis Day including some of the amazing competitions you can join in with when it all kicks-off on Thursday 17th July.

by Russell Moore (June 9, 2014)

Downloaded From:

<https://newsarchive.tabletennisengland.co.uk/news/archived/get-involved-with-national-table-tennis-day/>