The Army table tennis team is looking for fixtures with leading clubs.

The aim is to fulfil about four fixtures this year with civilian teams, either at the Army's home base in Aldershot or away to various clubs.

The Army would be able to field a strong men's team comprising former national league players, and a female team of mixed ability levels.

Ashford TTC have already expressed an interest and the Army team is hoping to pick up three more fixtures in the next year and, subject to success, looking to double that fixture list the following year.
