

Launch of first National Table Tennis Day

Author: Russell Moore

Posted On: June 26, 2014

National Table Tennis Day – Thursday 17th July 2014

This year for the first time ever, Table Tennis England and Sing London are working together to launch National Table Tennis Day on Thursday 17th July 2014.

This summer, we're planning a nationwide event to challenge clubs, schools, businesses, table tennis players, fans and the general public to get your paddles out and celebrate our sport with a series of spectacular events of your own invention!

We want you to get as many people involved as possible!

Table tennis is a game that can be played anywhere, at any time, by anyone and we want to foster that concept by creating a dynamic mass participation day to engage budding 'ping-pongers' across the country in running their own competitions in conjunction with the various Ping! 2014 Launch sites being held in 15 cities during an explosive 24 hours for English table tennis.

Literally anyone can play!

Whether you host an open day, take your tables outside, try fancy dress, bat and table designs, trick shots, a teacher versus pupils challenge or even have a go at a Guinness World Record we want you to get involved with any table tennis-related activity you can think of and inform us of your plans for this special day.

Use your ingenuity! There's no end to projects to get involved with.

As well as your own competitions we invite you to test your creative side and enter our events for the chance to win an outdoor ping pong table!

There are five categories to have a go at; highest game above sea level, lowest game below sea level, most extreme or intriguing table location, most inventive table, bat or ball design and best dressed table or players. Entry details for these tournaments will be made available soon on this web page.

Challenges and trick shots are accepted!

If you're struggling for ideas or want to promote your event further you can use our free-to-download toolkit (available soon at the link below) which includes a guidance document, template press release, template flyer and template poster. You can also flick through the slideshow of bat designs below to get your creative juices flowing.

Once you have decided on your event's concept, location and competitions, register your details on the online form below and we'll help to promote your event via our website and social media to get as many people involved as possible. As well as registering on our online form, why not 'like' our Facebook page; Facebook.com/nationaltabletennisday or follow us on twitter for the latest updates from @TableTennisENG

Download National Table Tennis Day Toolkit here

Don't miss out! You'll regret it!

Downloaded From:

<https://newsarchive.tabletennisengland.co.uk/news/archived/launch-of-first-national-table-tennis-day/>