Table tennis fans still have the chance to snap up discounted tickets for the Sainsbury's School Games.

The Youth Sport Trust is making tickets available to NGB member clubs for the participating sports at the event in Manchester from September 4 to 7.

Tickets normally cost £3, but the NGB deal allows clubs to obtain an unlimited number of tickets at the special price of £1.50 per person – ie two for the price of one.

The offer applies to all table tennis sessions, plus the Games' opening ceremony.

All Table Tennis England affiliated clubs or individual members can go to www.ssg.ticketsource.co.uk, order the tickets they require online and then enter the following discount code when prompted: 'SSG14CLUB'.

E-Tickets can be printed at the time of ordering.

As well as table tennis, the offer extends to other sports, including Cycling at the Manchester Velodrome and Athletics at the Regional Athletics Arena, which are both close by to the table tennis at Manchester Tennis Centre.
