Ryan Jenkins is back on the GP circuit in Bristol

Ryan Jenkins heads a strong entry for the Bristol Grand Prix as he makes his comeback on the circuit.

The Welsh wizard 'retired' at the end of last season after clinching a 50th individual Grand Prix title in Blackpool and winning the overall series for 2013-14.

But he has gone back on his pledge to call it a day and has entered the Bristol event on November 15 and 16.

The event is shaping up to have a top-quality field. Chris Doran, who won the first two events of the season and was runner-up to Craig Howieson last time out in South Shields, is again in the frame, as are Gavin Rumgay and Tom Maynard.

On the women's side, Karina LeFevre, Emma Vickers and Abbie Milwain are already on the list of competitors.

The closing date for entries is October 30 – please click here for the entry form.
