The World Championship of Ping Pong returns to London in January, and Table Tennis England members can benefit from two fantastic ticket offers.

Moving into its third year at the historic Alexandra Palace, defending champion Maxim Shmyrev will return to try to fend off the challenge of 63 other top sandpaper players from around the world in the $100,000 event which will once again be broadcast live on Sky Sports throughout.

Tickets are available now from SeeTickets.com (search Ping Pong) priced just £10 for afternoon sessions and £15 in the evenings. However, Table Tennis England members can choose from two great offers:

Use Promo code WCPP2for1 to receive a ticket for both sessions of your chosen day for the price of one session.

Or use promo code WCPPFreeKids to receive up to two free concessionary tickets with each adult ticket bought.

To take advantage of either of these offers just visit www.WorldChampionshipOfPingPong.net, click 'buy tickets' and enter your code at the top of the page.

The event will take place over the weekend of January 24 & 25, with sessions beginning at midday and 6pm on the Saturday and midday and 6.30pm on the Sunday.

Using traditional sandpaper rackets, the World Championship of Ping Pong is a throwback to the early days of table tennis and aims to catapult ping pong into the big league and on to the international television stage.
