The National Championships saw some fantastic action, but were just as memorable off the tables for one group of people.

They were the recipients of the Table Tennis England Volunteer Awards 2015, which honoured the dedicated work of unsung heroes from the grassroots of our sport.

A total of 10 individuals and two clubs were honoured, and received their trophies at a presentation during our flagship event in Redbridge at the weekend. The ceremony was attended by Table Tennis England Board members including Chair Sandra Deaton, President Doreen Stannard, Deputy Chair Susie Hughes, Treasurer Keith Thomas and Mike Smith.

Among those honoured was 90-year-old Leonard Hoffman, a coach and helper at various London clubs for 67 years. He is still a regular helper during weekly junior sessions at Mossford Premier Club and organises tournaments and fun events, even providing prizes out of his own pocket.

At the other end of the age spectrum were Nicholas Li, the 18-year-old Young Coach of the Year who has helped Hillingdon TTC's membership grow by 90 per cent in less than a year and who works extensively in local schools, and 17-year-old Shyam Bavalia of Wellingborough and District Hindu Association TTC, who gives up hours of his own time to help run the club's coaching sessions for younger and beginner players.

Table Tennis England's Safeguarding & Ethics Manager Judy Rogers said: "It was a lovely afternoon and it was very emotional, particularly with the unsung hero – everybody gave him a standing ovation.

"We were there to celebrate our volunteers and it's our way of saying thank you for everything they do.

"We can't do what we do if we don't have volunteers. Without them running the clubs, leagues and country structures, Table Tennis England would not have a job to do, and some of our top players wouldn't be here if it wasn't for volunteers."
