The benefits of table tennis in the workplace are set to be highlighted by BBC1's flagship The One Show tonight at 7pm.

Agent Marketing have been implementing a number of initiatives to help make their staff more productive – including encouraging table tennis at their office in Liverpool.

It is part of a project to investigate whether shorter working days with more organised leisure activities in the workplace can have a positive effect on staff.

The company's story is due to feature on BBC1 from 7pm tonight and has already been shown on BBC and ITV regional news programmes in the North West.
