

Showing Table Tennis in a new light!!!

Author: Paul Stimpson

Posted On: October 28, 2016

Glow in the Dark Ping Pong was on offer last night at Leeds Corn Exchange as the lights were turned down for a UV light spectacular. Special glow in the dark bats, balls and tables provided a unique experience for both regular and newcomers to the Leeds Ping Parlour. The event was a joint idea between Leeds City Council, Table Tennis England and Anita Morris Associates the marketing company at Leeds Corn Exchange. Sally Shutt, Table Tennis England Development Officer- North commented ' This was a novel way to showcase our sport and engage a younger audience'. The people who tried it all said it was great fun and it also made a fantastic visual impact for visitors to the building. We will definitely look to repeat the event in the future.'

Downloaded From:

<https://newsarchive.tabletennisengland.co.uk/news/local-news/north/showing-table-tennis-in-a-new-light/>