Here's your chance to get close to the England Leopards at their European qualifying double-header!

Both the men's and women's teams are in action in Preston on the evening of Tuesday April 11 in the home legs of their play-off matches against Slovakia and Spain respectively.

Tickets are now on sale, and if you cannot make it to Preston you will be able to watch live on the SPORTbible Facebook page as both teams play on home soil together for the first time since 2014.

There is extra incentive to book your place in the crowd – after the match, both teams will be staying on to meet the fans, pose for photos and selfies, sign autographs and answer questions.

The 'meet and greet' session is the Leopards' way of saying thanks to those who have supported them during their qualifying journey to the European Championships, which will be held in Luxembourg in September.

So don't delay – book your tickets now by clicking here
