Table Tennis England are supporting Nightingale Academy as they launch a new community table tennis club on Saturday mornings.

The club will be open to everyone from the local community, and welcomes players of any ability to take part!

Simon Hoang, an experienced coach from Greenhouse will be leading sessions and helping people to enjoy themselves and provide tips and tricks to improve their games.

Simon is currently based full time at the school, and working with students to improve their skills in table tennis.

The club will be open every Saturday between 9am and 12pm, and will cost just £1.50 for students and £3 for the local community to attend.

The school has fantastic facilities, with ten tables available in a dedicated table tennis hall.

The club launches on Saturday 1st April at 10am.
