

Watch out for the England Leopards

Author: Paul Stimpson

Posted On: April 07, 2017

Table tennis is taking over the airwaves next Tuesday with both live and recorded England action available to millions of viewers.

It all starts at 6pm when highlights of the recent England v Netherlands European Championships qualifying tie will be shown on Sky Sports Mix.

Lasting 30 minutes, it features the pick of the action from all the matches as England defeated their opponents 3-0, plus player interviews.

Just half an hour after the programme has finished, we go live from Preston as the European qualifying journey continues with the England Leopards' double-header play-off, first leg ties.

The men's match versus Slovakia will be streamed live via the SPORTbible Facebook page, while the women's match against Spain can be seen on the Table Tennis England YouTube channel.

And later in the evening there are further chances to see the Netherlands highlights at 8pm and 11pm on Tuesday on Sky Sports Mix, and again on Wednesday at 8am and 4.30pm on Sky Sports Mix and at noon, 2pm and 7.30pm on Sky Sports 5.

Our partners at 1080 Media will also be putting together a highlights show of the two play-off matches, to be shown on a date in the near future — watch this space for more details!

Downloaded From:

<https://newsarchive.tabletennisengland.co.uk/news/featured-news/watch-out-for-the-england-leopards/>