A new Twitter page has been offering 'useful' advice to parents of table tennis players*.

The page's bio states that the advice is given by a "U.K. table tennis parent. Roughing it in soulless sports halls observing parent etiquette so you don't need to".

@ttparenttips has now posted more than 75 pieces of advice and we've highlighted a selection below.

DON'T pay for the car park until you've checked your child's draw for cadet/junior nationals- you may only need an hour

Don't fret when your 14yo gets home from a Local league match at 1am on a school night . Its good practice for when they go to nightclubs

– TT Parents Tips (@tpparenttips) February 23, 2017

DO always carry a large tripod , even if you're not filming your child's matches . There's always the chance you could trip the oppo

– TT Parents Tips (@tpparenttips) February 18, 2017

Gain respect among other parents by pretending that you understand "count back" . #tabletennis

– TT Parents Tips (@tpparenttips) February 6, 2017

DO NOT suggest that your kid mightn't have lost 3-0 to a person 300 pts below them if they'd warmed up on a table instead of an iPhone
