Arsenal fans have just been given a glimpse into who is their club's top table tennis player.

The Gunners took a trip to Australia and China this summer as part of their preparations for the 2017/18 Premier League season and players were invited to take part in a knockout table tennis competition.

Granit Xhaka, who has been a regular in the first team this season, and Reiss Nelson, who is one of Arsenal's young prospects aged just 17, made it into the final.

Watch their match below.
