England's women got their European Championships campaign off to a positive start in Luxembourg today, but there was double disappointment for the men.

Tin-Tin Ho won both her singles matches against Greece and Kelly Sibley saved a match point on her way to defeating Aikaterini Toliou as England recorded a 3-1 victory in Group G of the Women's Challenge Division. Maria Tsaptsinos was the other player on duty.

England have two group matches tomorrow, against Slovenia – who they beat twice in the qualifying campaign – and Israel.

The men's squad started with a 3-0 defeat at the hands of Netherlands in Group E of the Challenge Division, with 3-1 individual defeats for Sam Walker, David McBeath and Tom Jarvis.

It got a bit better against Denmark, as Walker put the Leopards 1-0 in front with a victory over Anders Lind. But two wins for Jonathan Groth against Jarvis and Walker – the latter 12-10 in the fifth – and Tobias Rasmussen's victory over McBeath meant Denmark came back to win 3-1.

England's final group match is against Ireland on Thursday.

As well as the England squads, four English umpires are on duty in Luxembourg over the five-day competition – Neil Curtis, Alan Thomas, Nico Caltabiano and Harry Jutle.
