Sam Walker's run at the Belgium Open was ended by Korea's Kim Donghyun in the last 16.

Walker took the first game against an opponent who last appeared in the world rankings at No 80, but despite competing well in the next four games, was unable to get another one on the board as Kim went through to the quarter-finals.

Walker, seeded 14th for the event, was the last remaining English player in any of the competitions in De Haan.
