Tickets to the PG Mutual National Championships are now on sale – and each one comes with a FREE ticket to watch England Leopards men and women in action.

The Nationals, from Thursday March 1 to Sunday March 4, is the third and final event of a series being staged at the iconic Copper Box Arena on London's Queen Elizabeth Olympic Park.

The extravaganza of table tennis starts with the Team World Cup from February 22–25, followed by a double-header European Championships fixture from 6pm on Tuesday February 27, when England men take on Bosnia-Herzegovina and the women face Norway.

Every ticket purchased for the Friday, Saturday or Sunday of the Nationals will entitle the ticket-holder to get in to watch the European Championships matches for free.

And there is more good news – there is no charge to get in to the first day of the Nationals on Thursday March 1, when the under-21 men's and women's singles will take place, while under-fives are free on every day.

Tickets for the Friday start from just £5 if bought in advance; Saturday tickets cost from £8; and the prices for finals day on Sunday start at £10. There are discounts available for three-day tickets for Friday to Sunday.

We are also offering a small number of premium tickets on all three days, which guarantee spectators the best seats in the house – all other seats are unreserved.

Tickets are now on sale via The Ticket Factory website – Click here to buy tickets
