We're offering ticket holders to the PG Mutual National Championships the chance to win a VIP day out to the finals of the ITTF Team World Cup.

The day is almost entirely sold out, with just a few VIP tickets remaining, so we're offering one lucky person the chance to win their way into this prestigious event.

The winner will receive two VIP tickets to the event on Sunday, February 25, which includes:

- Premium seating with the best view of the show court
- Cold/hot food and drinks
- Behind the scenes access to watch the players in the training hall
- A memento of the occasion

If this wasn't enough, Westfield's largest and liveliest bar – The Bat & Ball – has also thrown in a pizza, pint and an hour of ping pong for two after the event! The ping pong parlour, deli and bar is located just down the road from the Copper Box Arena and houses 12 professional sized tables for the table tennis fans, along with a selection of the finest craft beers and cocktails.

Anyone who has purchased tickets to this year's PG Mutual National Championships will be automatically entered into a prize draw to win the VIP day out.

If you haven't already purchased your ticket to the PG Mutual National Championship, tickets start from just £5 per day.

It is your last chance to watch our top table tennis stars on home soil before they compete at the Gold Coast 2018 Commonwealth Games this April. This includes England's number one players, Paul Drinkhall and Tin-Tin Ho, who will be defending their singles crowns at the competition.

Alongside this, there are also three doubles titles to decide, plus the para events, featuring some of Paralympics GB's stars from Rio 2016.

This year is set to be our biggest, boldest and best event yet, as we host it in a world-class venue, the Copper Box Arena, London, from 1-4 March – just one week after the Team World Cup comes to the city.
