Whilst we often celebrate the inclusive nature of the sport and previous plans have addressed the diversity of particular aspects of the sport or diversity and inclusion, this is the first time it has been put together in an aligned strategy, taking a much broader overview of diversity and inclusion.

We want to take this opportunity to thank all of those who played a part in formulating the strategy. Much of the work has been undertaken by a Diversity and Inclusion Strategy group established in November 2020 which included representation from the Board, staff, Members' Advisory Group (MAG) and British Para TT. There have been subgroups meeting regularly to share their knowledge, experiences and values, these focus groups included Women and Girls, Ethnically Diverse Communities and Disabled People.

We will continue to reach out to the table tennis community and beyond to listen, engage and have conversations to put in place the right type of support to see long term change. The Board of Table Tennis England recognise that some parts of the sport are more diverse than others and there are many examples of clubs and organisations doing some fantastic work to broaden the sports participant, volunteering, coaching and officiating base and we need to learn from these and share them across the table tennis community.

We should celebrate the success of the difference the sport can and does make across different communities and cultures. However, we must not take the 'potential' of the sport to be diverse and inclusive for granted. We must also be pro-active in our approach, diversity and inclusion does not and will not happen by accident and we encourage our clubs, leagues, counties and regions to join us on this journey.

The role of clubs, leagues, counties and regions in the delivery of this strategy will be crucial, as well as the ability to work closely and connect with external partners. We are committed to supporting the education of coaches, technical officials and volunteers and recognise that everyone will have a different interpretation and understanding of diversity and inclusion and that different parts of the sport and areas of the country will need to approach diversity and inclusion in different ways.

Working together we will Level the Table and make table tennis a sport for all, for life.

INTRODUCTION

Table Tennis England is the National Governing body for the sport of table tennis in England. We aspire to be recognised as a world leading National Governing Body, delivering a diverse and dynamic sport that transforms lives, connects communities, and achieves excellence. We work hard to provide opportunities for people to achieve and enjoy our sport. However, we recognise we have some improvements to make to ensure we are fully reflective of the people who live in England.

Our Board has a fair representation of the communities we serve. Out of 12 members: 42% of our board are women and 25% are from Ethnically Diverse Communities, yet as we look across the spectrum of our members and organisation, we know that there are not enough Disabled People, Ethnically Diverse Communities or Women and Girls, in our sport. We recognise that we need to improve on our person-centred approach and do more to build connections, understanding that intersectional diversity and spectrums exists.

People are not defined by a uniform characteristic, people are different and there is real value and beauty in that.

Everyone should consider themselves included and a part of this journey: younger and older, people with visible or hidden disabilities, people who are Black, Asian, White from diverse ethnicities. Heterosexual women and men, LGBTQ+ people, trans people, travellers, people of different faiths, people of different health or socio-economic status, and people who think differently.

Creating safe and secure environments are the bedrock in which we will build success and wellbeing for all. This strategy recognises that there's life-enhancing power in genuine equality, greater diversity and inclusion for all.

CASE STUDY 1

Increasing physical activity amongst stroke survivors with table tennis.

“ I hadn't played table tennis for years and I wasn't sure if I could handle a bat and balls since my brain injury. I was really surprised that after a little practice I could play really quite well! It has helped with my hand eye coordination and it's a lot of fun

Headway Client

Regular physical activity can reduce the risk of stroke by 27%, whilst also contributing to lowering blood pressure and improving overall wellbeing. Table tennis is a low intensity, adaptable activity, which has been shown to improve mental wellbeing, cognitive function and build self-esteem. The social nature of the activity also helps to create friendships, and therefore reduce social isolation and loneliness.

Towards the end of 2018, Table Tennis England provided Preston's Heartbeat Cardiac Clinic with a Ping in the Community table tennis package, which provided them with everything needed to introduce social table tennis to service users.

Laura Coleman, Volunteering and Community Officer at Stroke Association, hoped that introducing table tennis would:

- Improve physical activity
- Provide an opportunity to do something new
- Bring people together

Since having table tennis available at Heartbeat Cardiac Clinic, regular sessions are held at the end of communication groups, giving people a chance to wind down after an intense session. Table tennis has also been used by trainers within the specialist cardiac gym on a 1-to-1 basis with their service users, as well as staff enjoying the activity as part of their own wellbeing.

“ People have often thought they couldn't do certain things due to the effects of their stroke... the sheer joy and pleasure it has given them to realise that they can has been a real motivator for people to get involved.

CASE STUDY 2

How the satellite clubs programme can provide new opportunities for young people who are often under-represented in sport to get active.

Providing relevant and inspiring opportunities for young people to participate in sport and be active is key in building physically active behaviours. The satellite club programme aims to provide new opportunities for young people to get active, by bridging the gap between school, college and community sport.

The satellite club programme seeks to develop new long term opportunities for young people aged 11-25 to be involved in sport and physical activity. Clubs and community organisations are able to apply for funding to start new satellite sessions in order to target young people into regular physical activity.

Projects are funded to engage young people who are often under-represented in sport, including Women and Girls, Ethnically Diverse Communities and young people in areas of deprivation.

With the support of satellite club funding, Corby Town Table Tennis Club created a new session at Kingswood Secondary Academy. The session attracted around 40 young people, including 12-year old Mia who had not played table tennis before. Since joining the sessions Mia's involvement and commitment to table tennis has continued to grow.

“I like table tennis because it has improved my health both mentally and physically. But most of all, I like table tennis because it has boosted my confidence so much and it makes me proud of being part of the table tennis community.
Mia - Corby Town Table Tennis Club

Key Learnings

1. Satellite clubs provide an opportunity for young people to experience a new activity
2. Exit routes can allow participants to continue their player journey and further develop skills and regular playing habits
3. Transitioning into a club provides many more opportunities than just playing, including coaching and committee roles

#LevelTheTable

#LevelTheTable is our new 5-year Diversity and Inclusion Strategy supporting our commitment to tackle inequalities, ensuring that everyone involved in our sport are treated fairly, equitably, with dignity and respect.

We are using an evidence-based approach to planning, implementing and evaluating outcomes.

In this context, data will be used to understand lived experiences within our sport and examine the variability in the rates of participation, enrolment, retention, progression, achievement and employability across, not only our immediate priority areas, but across all protected characteristics in the different segments of our sport. With ambitions of learning and connecting with communities we do not currently serve.

We will implement initiatives using data analysis to improve our current provisions. Objective setting, planning, education and impact assessment will be undertaken as part of an annual cycle. A commitment to collaboration, continuous improvement and sharing best practice will be built into the governance arrangements.

We have five strategic goals, three immediate priority areas and five phases, which will help achieve our aspirations.

- Strategy will be delivered over 5 years

- Individual plans for each priority area

- Implemented via a phase system

- Phase system interlinks

CONSULTATION

Who did we speak to when developing the plan?

Consultation in the development of this strategy was carried out with the following groups:

- Board strategy group
- MAG
- National Council
- British Para TT
- Staff members
- Membership survey and verbal consultation
- Ethnically Diverse Communities focus group
- Women and Girls focus group
- Disability focus group
- TASS Female Engagement Project
- Two club and coach engagement sessions

MEASURING IMPACT

Our strategy is a commitment to a five-year journey to improve diversity and inclusion across our sport.

We will measure the impact of:

- Improved access of the sport

- The diversity of our communities

- Training attendance data

- Survey responses and engagement

The effectiveness and achievement of our goals for diversity and inclusion will be reviewed and reported on. The report will be provided to the Board, CEO and SLT. The review will focus on the implementation of the actions, the progress made and successes. It will also identify any adjustments required to improve effectiveness.

include:

- A qualitative assessment of progress or achievement of the actions

- A quantitative assessment of the impact of the strategy on employee perceptions and experience of the culture of the organisation

The outcome of the evaluation and review will guide the development of further action plans.

REPORTING PROGRESS

To ensure we are meeting the goals of our strategy, it is important to benchmark our current position. Looking at priority areas – Women & Girls, Ethnically Diverse Communities and Disabled People – the following insight provides an indication of the diversity and inclusion among key groups at the time of launching #LevelTheTable.

The metrics displayed below were calculated using business data. The methods used for workings will be repeated on a bi-annual basis to measure impact and progress of the strategy. We have used a Red-Amber-Green (RAG) system to determine how the table tennis community compares with the national population based on statistics from the 2011 Census.

A reassessment of the RAG system will take place following the publication of findings from the 2021 Census. Metric updates will be used to support narrative progress reporting.

Moving forwards, we are keen to improve on the data capture in place to be able to report against fields where data is currently unknown and additional protected characteristics.

STRATEGIC GOAL 1

We will continue to listen to, connect with and develop a deeper understanding of the experiences of different communities in our sport.

To make improvements around diversity and to affect change, we need to understand the lived experiences of those in the sport or who we would like to engage in the future, to learn from and generate best practice and guidance for key stakeholders to implement in their own communities.

We will do this by:

- Providing regular opportunities to continue the dialogue around sharing experiences. Being committed to listening to the thoughts, emotions and experiences of our communities.
- Developing a better understanding of members' views and attitudes towards diversity and inclusion.
- Developing a better understanding of communities, we don't currently support to learn how to improve our services.
- Reviewing and Implementing feedback and recommendations collected from TASS research.

Success will look like:

- We will have digital platforms with adaptive services, where people can communicate and share information.
- We will have annual membership surveys, volunteer surveys and club audits.
- We will have partnered with organisations whose strategy aligns to our own - in tackling inequalities and getting people more active.
- Focus groups will support on future initiatives.
- We will have learned by experience and apply best practice and considerations to new and existing methods.
- We will have implemented findings from TASS research which includes female players in the performance pathway having their own camp.

STRATEGIC GOAL 2

We will educate and support staff, volunteers, coaches, officials, players, spectators, and the wider table tennis community about what diversity and inclusion means and how inclusive environments can be created.

Many coaches or volunteers express the need to be more confident and knowledgeable in this area and focus groups with people from different communities have also raised that more education will help different communities feel more included in the sport.

We will do this by:

- Supporting the education of volunteers, coaches, officials and staff, through resources and courses to better understand and improve knowledge and confidence around equality, diversity and inclusion.
- Creating more inclusive and welcoming environments to work, play, coach, volunteer and officiate in table tennis.
- Ensuring equality, diversity and inclusion is a part of everything we do, and it remains a critical area of work to be discussed and progressed across the sport.
- Working with the table tennis community to ensure that there is suitable kit/uniform in place and equipment for players, coaches, volunteers, officials and clubs.

Success will look like:

- We will have new learning modules and dedicated learning zone space with supporting resources.
- We will meet the requirements of the new code for sports governance.
- We will have kit options to meet the needs of all genders and faiths.
- We will use equality impact assessment on all policies, procedures, products and programmes by 2025.
- We will ensure 100% of existing and new National Council, National Committee, and staff members have had training towards equality, diversity and inclusion.
- We will acknowledge key awareness days, including Black History Month, International Women's Day and work hard to showcase and celebrate stories all year round.

STRATEGIC GOAL 3

We will increase the diversity of volunteers, coaches, officials and staff across all levels to be more reflective of the sports participants and the population in England.

The diversity of volunteers, coaches and officials involved in the sport at all levels is currently not representative of people playing table tennis or the wider population. There will need to be pro-active action to enable this change.

We will do this by:

- Providing opportunities to increase the diversity of those in leadership roles at local and national level.
- Improving the diversity of the officiating and coaching workforce to better reflect the participants that play the sport and the wider England population through targeted initiatives and partnerships.
- Increasing the visibility of different communities within table tennis so there is a less intimidating first step on the ladder to become involved in table tennis.
- Reviewing our recruitment methods and improving the diversity of Table Tennis England to be reflective of the population we serve.

Success will look like:

- We will have improved our visibility score across disabilities, Ethnically Diverse Communities and Women and Girls will improve from an average score of 38% in moderate visibility.
- We will increase our female tutors nationally, from 32% to 50%.
- We will have improved representation of Women and Girls, people from Ethnically Diverse Communities and Disabled People within national committee and network roles.
- We will have improved diversity within tutors, umpires, coaches and technical officials that is more reflective of society based on ONS data.
- We will have employees that are reflective of society based on ONS data, by 2032.

STRATEGIC GOAL 4

We will continue to grow participation in the sport to be more reflective of the different backgrounds and communities in England.

Participation in the sport is somewhat diverse, but better diversity exists at a social and recreational level. We want to increase and improve opportunities for a diverse range of participants to participate in table tennis. It is vitally important as a sport we adapt to the individuals to be part of the table tennis community and not expect individuals to adapt for the sport, so it is more representative of the general population.

We will do this by:

- Supporting the table tennis community to grow the number of people playing table tennis.
- Improving the diversity of the officiating and coaching workforce to better reflect the participants that play the sport and the wider England population through targeted initiatives and partnerships.
- Working to ensure that opportunities to play, coach or officiate in the sport are economically efficient to ensure that cost is not a barrier to participation.
- Working across the sport to ensure that playing kit is made available at all levels of the game that is suitable for people from all backgrounds and communities.

Success will look like:

- We will have 200 Essential Schools Members by 2026.
- We will have 100% of current English Para players profiles on the Table Tennis England website.
- Table tennis will reach communities the sport typically hasn't connected with.
- We will have improved diversity of members and people who participate in our programmes that is reflective of the population in England.

STRATEGIC GOAL 5

We will establish clear processes and support mechanisms to act and challenge discriminatory behaviour.

The Table Tennis England membership surveys and focus groups evidence that a significant proportion of the table tennis community face challenges taking part in the sport because of their protected characteristics. It is vital that people know where to go to report and access support when this happens.

We will do this by:

- Implementing and promoting a systemic zero tolerance approach to discriminatory behaviour with a clear process for reporting, sanctioning and education.
- Providing support for people who are affected by discriminatory behaviour.
- Updating our current provisions ensuring this is communicated widely.

Success will look like:

- Reporting channels will have been reviewed ready for conversations around adapting them, so they continue to be fit for purpose.
- We will have an accessible resource that can be shared after each report.
- We will have internal staff members and external members trained as mental health first aiders in partnership with MHFA.
- We will host one annual campaign that helps promote our zero-tolerance approach.
- We will have clear sanctions for anyone who displays discriminatory behaviour.

GUIDING PRINCIPLES

To create sustainable change, we will need to continue our journey of transforming table tennis into an accessible and inclusive sport for all.

Our guiding principles are:

- 1. Be pro-active in our approach and directly support to enable programmes, clubs, leagues, volunteer opportunities, schools' engagement, competitive and talent & performance pathways to be truly inclusive. Supporting the local delivery structures to embed diversity and inclusion through research and insight.
- 2. Engage with communities to understand their lived experiences in table tennis, recognising inequality gaps that exist and which, in some cases, have been widened by the COVID-19 pandemic.
- 3. Lobby nationally and internationally to ensure that the sport is fully inclusive and that the equipment, kit and materials required is accessible and fits the needs of what is required for the sport.
- 4. Expose, challenge and take action across all aspects of discrimination and unfair practice.
- 5. Ensure that we recognise the contribution to the sport from all communities, whilst raising the profile of underrepresented communities in the sport to be reflective of the population.

FAQs

Why are you focusing on diversity and inclusion?

We're all different and sometimes, these differences can lead to poor opportunities, discrimination – either directly or indirectly – or treated less favourably. A typical example could be a building not being wheelchair accessible or a workplace culture that encourages alcohol without considering its Muslim employees. We want to ensure our sport has inclusive environments so that everyone can play and thrive in our sport.

Why are you focusing on W&G, Disabilities, Ethnically Diverse Communities?

Our data tells us we have some gaps in these areas, so we will be working intersectionally across these immediate areas to help support targeted initiatives.

What are the benefits of supporting the D&I strategy and how much additional work is this going to be?

There are many benefits, for example having diversity of thought is a powerful tool that can help rebuild. Diversity and inclusion should form part of the solutions, rather than an 'add on'. Diversity and inclusion should be embedded into business as usual. We encourage people to discuss rebuilding and growth through diversity and inclusion using the supporting resources we provide, if necessary.

What about those current members who have been affected by Covid?

We appreciate that Covid-19 has affected our members and the communities they serve. Data suggests that there are certain parts of the community that has been disproportionately affected.

For more information on the data collected  Sport England : The impact of coronavirus on activity levels revealed

 For grant support – Our funds | Sport England

If you can't accept National Lottery funding for religious reasons, Sport England do have limited scope to fund smaller projects through community asset funds or their small grants programme from other sources. A supporting letter will need to go alongside an application.

 Active Partnerships have a funding pot of money where people in the community can access support to help launch projects etc. Each Active partnership runs slightly different so we would encourage looking on your local active partnership website.

How can I get involved?

This strategy is for and about our community and we are encouraging ideas and engagement at all levels. Please email:

diversity@tabletennisengland.co.uk or telephone 01908 206680 where you can find out more about our forums and share any ideas you may have about how we improve experiences for our communities.

We will also be sending out updates, so please look out for ongoing communications.
